eComment: After moving away from our family and friends in Seattle my wife and I were concerned about how we would find a good group of friends. After joining Crossfit Horsepower in Hermosa Beach we met a group of healthy, fun, likeminded people who we consider some of our closest friends. This gym is such a positive piece of the Hermosa community which promotes healthy living and great friendships. Horsepower is perfectly located in a light industrial zone among auto body shops, Surfboard shapers, and other businesses. The gym's neighbors purchased their homes knowing they were near these businesses. Horsepower should be free to operate under the rules for the area.
